Arrive at Burwick, the Southern Tip of the Orkney Islands and pick up another cycling route – 79 miles round the South Isles of Orkney up to Kirkwall and the round the Northern Shoreline of Mainland Orkney. You can see this route at sustrans.org.uk

You can stop off in the Capital Town Kirkwall for a night or two. It's just 20 miles from Burwick where we land. You'll find a campsite there, lots of B&Bs and hotels not to mention a few lovely pubs! Take the ferry from there and explore the quiet North Isles of Orkney or even onwards to Shetland! Or continue along the mainland Cycle route and explore the Islands at your leisure.
